How Spencer was Elected Senator

MONTGOMERY, Ala. May 5—J S Perrin late R publican member of the legislature from Wilcox county testified as follows before the committee now investigating the means by which Spencer secured his election to the U S Senate: Troops were retained in Alabama before the election on the requisition of myself and others. It has not been understood that Spencer had arranged for troops to be put at the disposal of revenue officers where intimidation was necessary. These troops were accompanied by United States marshals who had fictitious warrants with citizens' names promi nently displayed and shown to persons who would support them. They were paraded in various coun ties. I shot a hole in my hat and reported I had been attacked by Ku Klux, and I sent troops to ar rest my mythical assailants. I kept troops as long as I could use them as a political machine. Our pur pose was to secure the legislature at all hazards and elect Spencer. A number of witnesses testify to same purport.

Sensational Rumors—The Franco-German War to be Renewed.

LONDON May 6—A Paris correspondent of the Times telegraphs that uneasiness prevails in well informed circles in Paris. The most serious minds believe danger is impending. Politicians from abroad as well as those claiming to be well in formed at home assert that peace or war depend on the approaching meeting of the Czar and the German Emperor. No one denies that a powerful party in Germany comprising the entire military element, feels that the late treaty was too lenient and that the indemnity paid has already returned to French coffers—that the possession of Belfort by France is dangerous to Germany; that France is reorganizing rapidly and will soon be at [illegible] a formidable army for alliance with other nations and Germany is no richer than before the war. Her finances and special organization cannot long sup port the expenses of the present armament and the cannot disarm in the face of France. The mili tary party in Germany are convinced that there never was a moment more propitious than the pres ent to secure for their country a long era of pros perity and peace. War ought to be promptly un dertaken. It is necessary to march on Paris and take up a position where a new peace treaty can be signed which takes Belfort from France and limits her active army and exacts ten mill iards to be paid in twenty years. Paris can be attacked if France refused to sign. All the pow ers have confined themselves to timid friendly rep resentations in regard to the Belgian note which only show that to Britain will France now is a duty to Germany and humanity. Europe will in ver be [illegible] while the blunder of the treaty which leaves France ready to recommence the struggle is unrectified. What may be promptly ex ecuted at an insignificant sacrifice would two years hence cost oceans of blood. Russia must be con vinced of this necessity. The Times correspondent adds that it would be untrue to say that the argu ments are accepted in Germany outside of a partic ular party. It would be equally untrue that the se ments are destined to be realized. The diplo matic world even in Germany declare she cannot fight against an enemy who declares for peace Honest Germans scout the supposition that the em peror has scruples but the party of immediate ac tion urge it as a duty to sink all considerations in order to save the country. They insist that France must be made to accept a reassuring treaty. If she will not fight, Germany in order to have the right to reproach France as the cause of uneasiness must solemnly disclaim the above theories. The Times in an editorial scouts the apprehensions raised by alarmists and the alarmed in Paris.

THE TILTON-BEECHER CASE

Stephen Pearl Andrews

Continued [illegible] became acquainted with Tilton when he was [illegible] in 1866 with Henry Ward Beecher. Witness remembered his call on the Tilton family years ago as described by Miss Augusta M[illegible]. His wife was with him. She saw Mrs Tilton [illegible] on a sofa by Tilton [illegible] character. That was what the sphere scene amounted to. There was no impropriety. It was visible to him and all present among whom were [illegible] Brooklyn and son of Plymouth Church. Became acquainted with Mrs Woodhull in February 1870. She was then residing at the Hoffman House. She became a resident of the house on Thirty-eighth street the summer of 1871. After my wife died in May or June 1871 I took up my residence there. There were then in the house Mr Woodhull, Miss Claflin, Dr Woodhull (the invalid husband of Mrs Woodhull), Col. Blood, Mrs Woodhull, [illegible] mother and servants. Witness was asked who frequented the residence there. Evarts objected to the evidence as being improper on rebuttal. Fullerton argued that an attempt was to be made to cast aspersions on Tilton on that account and the court ruled that the witness could answer the question, and he an swered William Orton, Whitelaw Reid, Benj F Butler, Gov [illegible], George H Julien, O C Frothingham, Albert Brisbane, Orville Grant, Gen Doubleday and others. Among the ladies were Mrs Stanton, Mrs. Davis, Miss Anthony, Mrs Hooker, Mrs Phelps, Rose Mc Kinley, Lillie Devereaux Blake, Mrs. Pomeroy, Mrs Gage, Mrs Kirk and other.

The time was generally passed at these gather ings in discussions. I recollect when Tilton first came acquainted with Mrs Woodhull and saw him there. Often saw Tilton and Mrs Woodhull to gether. Never observed any undue familiarities between them. The scandal article was published in Woodhull's paper November 2, 1872. It was composed by Mrs Woodhull originally. I was my self in a sense an author of the article. I con tributed to the writing of it. The beginning and end of it was my composition. It was just finished in time to rush it through the press. Mrs Wood hull and Col Blood brought the manuscript to me. Up to this time the story of the scandal was whis pered about and I heard of Mrs Woodhull's al lusion to the matter in her speech at Boston. So far as my knowledge is concerned Tilton knew nothing about the preparation of this article and it was a surprise to him when it ap peared. Up to the time the article was published I did not see any of the documents referred to in it. I was at Mrs Woodhull's one evening when wit ness (Cowley) was there but did not hear the sub ject of the scandal referred to. There was not to my knowledge a sofa bedstead in either parlor of Mrs Woodhull's house when I was there. I only remember one occasion when Tilton stayed at her house. He was preparing the life of Mrs Wood hull. I first heard of the scandal in the beginning of May 1871 in Mrs Woodhull's parlor from Mrs Stanton. Mrs Woodhull was also told of the fact of the scandal by Mr Stanton in my presence on either the 3d or 4th of the month a week or ten days before Tilton was introduced to Mrs Wood hull. I was in the Round procession and talked with Mrs Woodhull, Col Blood and Mr West. Did not see Tilton till the procession broke up at Union Square. Miss Claflin was in front of us walking alone and carrying a flag from the com mencement to the end of the procession. Tilton was not in company with Miss Claflin and Mrs Woodhull. Neither of these ladies were in the carriage until the procession broke up.

I was at the lecture of Mrs Woodhull in Stein way Hall Nov 2 1871. Think she left the next morning for a lecture tour in the West.

On Cross-examination Andrews said he was some times editor in charge of Woodhull's Weekly but without a salary. When his wife was present at Mrs Woodhull's with Tilton she was in a medium istic condition. I thought she was in a trance state. I don't remember that this condition in volved manipulation of Tilton's face. Think this meeting at Woodhull's was of the character of those in the salons of Madame Roland. Think the company at Mrs Woodhull's was equally as distin guished though in a different way, as this century was in advance of the last. He had often heard persons address Victoria as Vicky and thought it was too much familiarity. It shocked me. Don't think I ever heard Tilton address her this way. Mrs Woodhull was told about the scandal I think early in the spring of 1872. The material for the article was brought me on the 25th of October and printed on the 28th of that month. Witness marked portions of articles written by him, for identifica tion and they were offered in evidence.

Beach objected and Judge Neilson said he would take the matter into consideration.

During the whole period I remained at Mrs Woodhull's I breakfasted with the family. I only remember Tilton's taking breakfast there once. My observation was that Tilton was a good deal in terested in the matters he heard at that house, but dissented from many of the views he heard there. That was the cause of considerable discussion. My idea accorded with Mrs Woodhull's on the subject of social reform.

After recess the attendance was greatly increased, an impression prevailing that Henry C. Bowen had been subpoenaed by the prosecution and would be called. He came into court with his son. Frank Carpenter the artist was with the Tilton party, also Francis Moulton.

Mrs M. A Bradshaw

Was recalled and testified. Am acquainted with Bessie Turner; saw her in December 1870, at Mr Tilton's and at my house. Remember two visits she made me at my house; the first was on the 5th of December 1870. I made a record of the day she visited me in my diary. I had a conversation with her in which she told me Tilton charged his wife with adultery.

Evarts objected and Fullerton read from Bessie Turner's testimony to show that she denied telling Mrs Bradshaw Tilton charged his wife with adul tery with Beecher. The court decided to admit the testimony.

Witness continued. This conversation lasted two hours and Bessie Turner during it told me Tilton charged his wife with committing adultery with Henry Ward Beecher. I made a note of Bessie's [illegible] at the time. Witness was asked what request she made. Evarts objected and another argument en sued. Judge Neilson allowed the question and wit ness said in substance I told her not to tell any person about it. This finished the witness's tes timony and she was not cross examined.

The next witness was

John Wood,

Who testified that he was the printer who printed Woodhull and Claflin's Weekly. He began in May 1870 and ended in February 1872. When the pub lication was resumed in the fall of 1872 the type were set up in his office. This was in the last week of October 1872. He was positive as to the date the forms were taken from his office Saturday Oct [illegible] prior to this no part of that article had been put in type to witness' knowledge.

Cross examined—The paper containing the article was set up from Monday till Saturday of that week. Witness set up the Beecher article. The last speech delivered at Boston by Woodhull was set up in wit ness' office about two months before.

Henry C. Bowen

Was then called by Fullerton. He testified I have lived in Brooklyn for thirty years and am publish er and proprietor of the Independent. Have been acquainted with Theodore Tilton about 18 or 20 years. Have known Beecher for 30 years. Re member the note I took from Tilton to Beecher on Monday December 26th, 1870. I delivered this note at the house of James Freeland.

Counsel called witness' attention to Beecher's testimony that it was at Beecher's house the letter was delivered.

Witness continued. I met Beecher at Freeland's by appointment and am positive I delivered the note there about 4 or [illegible]. Didn't to Beecher. I was ignorant of the contents of the note. Witness was asked if Beecher gave him any any advice about the retention of Tilton on the Independent which caused a long argument the judge ruling that witness might answer if Beecher gave him any advice. Witness said Beecher didn't say anything about discharging Tilton from the Independent. I don't remember that anything was said about his retention on the Brooklyn Union. Nothing about his fitness as editor or contributor to either. I per [illegible] said then. Witness was asked if anything was said to him had influenced him in retaining Tilton from the Independent.

Evarts objected. Witness said at Freeland's that night I presented the letter to Beecher. He read it and put it in his pocket. I asked him if any reply, if any there was, and he said something [illegible] the man is crazy. He [illegible] my feeling toward Tilton. I said I was confidentially toward him. I said I [illegible] get out with Tilton and he [illegible] he could tell me something about Tilton's family which I ought to know. He asked me to call at his house the next day and see Mrs Beecher. He said he had letters from Mrs Tilton from Ohio which he desired me to see. [illegible] I did not know the [illegible] of damaging character [illegible] the contents of the note delivered the night but [illegible] Beecher didn't [illegible] I did [illegible] brought the letter from Tilton and I did not know what was in it. He did not read [illegible] the letter or [illegible] read it. I [illegible] him [illegible] I had [illegible] differences and I [illegible] him [illegible] his appointment [illegible] of the Independent. I don't remember [illegible] of the [illegible] letter from Turner against Tilton. I received the letter from Beecher early in January [illegible] and have it with me. Witness here produced the letter and handed it to Fullerton. The draft of the letter is stated in the already in evidence. I [illegible] the Tripar tite Agreement and payment of $7 000. There was no connection between the two matters. I was always willing to arbitrate with Tilton. I did not know that Beecher had any [illegible] with the arbitration. I drew a check on April 2 1872. It was dated the following day. Arbitrators sat at Moul ton's house. I was present the whole time. I do not recollect that anything was said about Beecher's affairs. There were written submission of affairs between Tilton and me. I have got them with me now. They are signed by Tilton and me. Fuller ton obtained this document and offered it in evidence. He read the paper agreeing to submit the matter to Freeland Storrs and Claflin. Witness continued. The award was made the same evening when I was present. There was nothing said about in any papers between Beecher and Tilton [illegible] that [illegible] Storrs [illegible] except where the other arbitrators [illegible] partite Agreement was executed [illegible] wanted [illegible] Claflin [illegible] to [illegible] Beecher [illegible] asked me [illegible] agreement [illegible] the paper [illegible] Claflin [illegible] himself [illegible]

[illegible] argument ensued [illegible] the court adjourned.

WASHINGTON May 5—The displacement of Com missioner of Internal Revenue Douglass was a sur prise to him. Yesterday afternoon Secretary Bristow called on Douglass saying he did so at the request of the President and to inform him that the disagreeable duty [illegible] that ex Senator Pratt had been tendered and had accepted the position of Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Douglass made one inquiry only following this verbal communi cation. It was whether his integrity as a man and officer had been in any manner impugned to which the Secretary replied not in the slightest degree. With this Douglass expressed himself satisfied.

The Emperor's Address to the Brazilian Chambers.

RIO DE JANEIRO May —The Emperor opened the regular session of Chambers in person. He said public order was completely restored. Negotiations with the Argentine Republic and Paraguay con tinued. Good will and prudence of the negotiations inspired confidence in a speedy favorable result. He urged various electoral reforms, and believed the people thoroughly appreciating the circum stances which compelled the government to adopt repressive measures in the dioceses of Olinda and Para, would do their utmost to restore harmony. If not the Chambers must enact necessary laws. The revenue again showed the usual rate of progress. ITALIAN REPUBLICANS VS MONARCH ISTS.

[From the S F Chronicle.]

The lawgivers of Italy are now in session in Rome. Two important projects which have agitated the country for some years namely the abolishment of the death penalty and compulsory education for all children are be ing discussed by the press the people and their representatives. On these vital issues the Senate is conservative if not retrogressive, the House of Deputies is radical and progres sive. If the projects involved were put to a direct vote of the people an overwhelming majority would decide in favor of abolishing the penalty of death and establishing compul sory education. But the people except through the Republican press have little in fluence in Italian affairs. The kingdom has a population of 27 000 000 of which only 500 000 are voters and those elect the 512 Deputies comprising what we may call the House of Representatives. The Senators numbering about 200 are created by the King. Three years ago the Deputies passed a law making compulsory education obligatory but it was defeated in the Senate. Last year an effort was made in Parliament to bring the question before both Houses but without successful re sult. Notwithstanding these defeats educa tion is making rapid progress in Italy. The abolishment of the death penalty is now being discussed with great earnestness throughout the kingdom and especially in the large cities where the Republican ele ment is strong. Florence takes the lead in this movement. The object is to bring the question before the existing Parliament. If it comes up, the Senate will no doubt vote against. In 1875 that body by a vote of 73 against 36 voted against the abolishment of the death penalty in the province of Tuscany. Italian legislators are now engaged in codify ing the laws with a view to make them ap plicable in criminal and other cases through out the kingdom. In the past every province or petty State had its own code.

MEMENTOES OF EDWIN FORREST

The New York Herald correspondent has re cently visited the old mansion in Philadelphia formerly occupied by the tragedian Edwin Forrest. It is now offered for sale and has been partly dismantled. Here in his old li brary are two large photographs life size—one of Forrest in citizen's dress the other as Lear holding his scepter of straw and saying "Aye every inch a king." Around the wall is there a collection of photographs of Forrest in all of his characters imperial size. He took a great deal of pride in these and when the photographs were printed he persisted in buy ing the negatives so that they could not be re produced. Here he is in all his characters—Lear, Hamlet, Othello, Rolla, Claude Mel notte, Jack Cade, Metamora, Spartacus, the Broker of Bogota and so on down the list. Here on a table is the glass case in which he kept his acting words for they are a noted collection. The first is Richard the Third's sword with the monogram J P K en graved upon it for John Philip Kemble to whom it originally belonged. Then there is a Roman sword with [illegible] engraved upon it. This was the property of Talma, the great tragedian who wore it in his Roman parts and the tradition is that he received it from the Emperor Napoleon, his friend. And here is also a bowie knife the first ever made and made a present to Forrest by Colonel Bowie the inventor of that interesting emblem of American civilization. Here is a cane that belonged to George Washington and another signifying that it had been presented to For rest by the artists of the Broadway Theater New York on the sixty ninth night of his performance in that city April 30 1852. An immense array of personal robes of the great actor are here stowed away.

By the arrival of the Constitution the San Francisco papers have Panama dates to April 5th. We clip the following items

CENTRAL AMERICA

The official periodical of Guatemala of the 21st of March has a long article on the educa tion of women and the National College for young girls. The latter establishment was opened on the 1st of March. Miss Otta James has been appointed Directress at the college

The schooner Rayo from the Darien ar rived in Panama on the 8th instant in three and a half days from Yavisa. She brought 80 quintals of Chucunaque rubber. The news from that section is most favorable and it is expected large quantities of rubber will soon be ready for shipment from there

COLOMBIA

A disastrous and melancholy accident took place at Corozal on the 26th of February last. At the alarm of fire fire! it was found that the house of Sr Alejo Vergara was in flames. A great number of people ran to the scene some to offer assistance others to look on. Unfortunately there was a barrel of pow der in the back part of the shop about the ex istence of which the owner of it had said nothing. A terrible explosion took place blew the burning house to pieces and buried beneath them some sixty persons. The spec tacle that resulted was a horrible one. These bodies were taken out blackened bleeding and moribund. Some crawling out as they best could disfigured, mutilated from the smoking ruins. Among the victims were Pe dro Vivera who died twenty four hours after and Sr Alejo Vergara on the 28th also two who were killed by the explosion

PERU

Another aspirant for the Presidency of Peru in 1876 has appeared in the person of Rear-Admiral Montero. It is difficult to prognos ticate regarding the campaign at this early date but the immense popularity of General Prado seems to indicate that his ticket will be the successful one. The artisans of Lima or rather a club purporting to represent them have nominated Don Bresani a prominent merchant as their candidate, but no interest is manifested in their cause. Up to the pres ent the Government maintains its guarded silence. An absurd report of a plebiscite for the re-election of Mr Prado was indignantly contradicted by the official journals

Thirty robbers some of whom were armed attacked the college of Santa Sofia which is in course of erection in the suburbs of Lima on the 14th of March with the intention of de priving the workmen of their salaries. The men resisted and a fight was sustained, which gave time for some soldiers to arrive and put the robbers to flight

BUENOS AYRES

Telegrams from Buenos Ayres dated March 7d announce that up to that time the Jesuit College had not ceased to burn and that it was entirely destroyed. Some of the ring leaders had been captured. Only three of the priests are known to have died. The Arch bishop had returned to the town and the whole of the papers were recommending his instant resignation. The Government had de clared the Republic in a state of siege for thir ty days and called out 1 000 national guards in the capital.

LETTER FROM McMINNVILLE

THE TOWN ALIVE—CO-OPERATIVE MERCHANTS [illegible] LIVERY IN [illegible] LOCAL [illegible]

McMINNVILLE May 3, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

McMinnville has been quite lively for some months past and prospects for it are ditto so far some months to come. Mr H Bailey, one of the most energetic and experienced saw mill men in the county has just completed a large steam saw mill here and will supply the peo ple with cheap lumber near home, from tim ber floated down the Yamhill river. Messrs Johnson & Barnum have rented the sash and door factory owned by Messrs Jones and Crawford and will work it to its full capacity. A Catholic church is to be built also several fine dwellings. Hon Henry Warren is already at work, and will complete in the early sum mer months a dwelling that will add much to the southern part of the pleasant little town

THE GRANGER STORE

Has brought about quite a revolution in the prices of articles of general merchandise. The members of the order of Patrons of Hus bandry came to the conclusion, some time last winter that instead of supporting five mer chants and allowing 50 per cent profit on $100 000 worth of goods they would support one merchant and allow him 10 per cent, and save the other 40 per cent to improve their farms. Arrangements were made with Mr L Bettman, who purchased a large stock of goods in San Francisco which he sells to grangers and others at a profit of 10 per cent above cost and freight. He has an extensive trade not only with grangers but with many others from all parts of the country. We have also

CHEAP RIDING

The proprietors of our livery stables are keep ing up a spirited opposition and pretty folks (like your correspondent) can ride almost for nothing and have a driver furnished. The young folks take advantage of the reduced prices good roads and pleasant evenings. Our paper

THE YAMHILL REPORTER

Is a credit to our country village. Mr G W Snyder the proprietor and editor, is a young man and for his diligence merits the liberal patronage he receives. The paper is conducted on the patent side principle a plan that other country papers would do well to adopt. One side affords ample space for local matters and the patent side is well selected

THE FARMERS

Have made good use of the few weeks of fine weather and are generally through with their spring sowing. Although the heavy rains made spring work come late and all at one time they were equal to the emergency and there are more acres of grain sown, and a bet ter prospect for a large yield, than ever before. Fall sown wheat never promised better. On the farms we noticed many improvements. Among others

R. B THOMPSON'S FARM

Is worthy of mention. With another year or two of work this will be the best improved farm in the State. Three years ago it was wild hill land covered with brush now it blossoms like the rose.

The only steam plow in the State is on this farm. It was placed here at a cost of $16 000. As a plow it is a success but as an investment it is perhaps not profitable. The same work could be done in the old way for the interest on the money. There are many

OTHER ENTERPRISING MEN,

Whose efforts are highly appreciated. We are not acquainted with some of them. Mr Wil son Cook and Mr G W Olds are model farm ers and others would do well to follow their example.

Mr B I Fuller is building a fine residence six miles southwest of McMinnville. As he is an enterprising and ingenious mechanic we may expect a rare specimen of architecture that will add much to the beautiful surround ings. Very truly ISAAC NEWTON, Jr.

That others may know where we are and what we are I endeavor to give a income statement of the business men of our little burg.

It is composed of 3 good, firm and lively stores 1 blacksmith shop 1 wagon shop 2 shoe and bootmaker establishments 1 drug store 1 hotel several private boarding houses 1 harness shop a fish market 1 livery stable, and 1 very large warehouse in addition to the one belonging to the railroad company an academy with a full attendance of students 1 billiard saloon. The I O O F, I O G T I O G R. and Boys of Liberty comprise the secret societies. This depot is in a central location, and is a favorite point for the farmers to meet to do their trading at, etc and grain is hauled here from all directions. It is about 20 miles west of Portland located in the center of a beautiful plain, surrounded by tall majestic timber (principally fir), and is especially noted for its morality, and good old fashioned citizens. SOMETHING THAT NEEDS EXPLANATION

PORTLAND, May 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

An article which appeared as the editorial leader in this morning's Bulletin so surprised me that I feel constrained to call attention to it in order to ascertain whether or not any one can explain it. I refer to the article in which a vast amount of the most indiscriminate and fulsome adulation is heaped upon our anoma lous and anonymous Senator. To my own personal knowledge and to the knowledge of several others I could name the editor of the Bulletin in private conversation frequently speaks in the most unmeasured terms of the public and private vices and crimes of the sen ator and Hipples him with a virulence of language and of tone which you could not put in print if you tried ever so hard. What does he mean then by chanting the praises of the senator through the Bulletin? Yours truly

A telegram from Hollister to the San Fran cisco Call says that the peach crop of the former place was entirely destroyed by the late frosts. Taking into consideration that the town of Hollister contains three peach trees which under favorable circumstances would have produced one bushel and a half each the effect on the price of peaches can easily be es timated.—Gilroy Leader.

The above comprises one of those malevo lent flings at Hollister in which our Gilroy contemporaries seem to take much delight. It is superfluous to remark that it is a base mis representation. Instead of three peach trees Hollister has at least a dozen besides all the saloons of which there are a goodly number are supplied with numerous kegs of good mel low peach brandy—not the villainous com pound of gut ripper and bug juice which the average Gilroy editor riots when he seeks inspiration for his pen through a rye straw.—Hollister Enterprise April 24th.

At Port Townsend, W T, three Hydah In dians purchased 600 gallons of pure spirits for the northern Indian market and five canoes left Victoria for Port Townsend to take the liquor aboard and start upon a peddling tour along the northwest coast. The Colonist says "The purchase at Port Townsend was made without the slightest attempt at concealment. It is true that the Americans have a law pro hibiting the sale of spirits to Indians, but that law, they say don't apply to British subjects, and Hydahs being British subjects may buy, sell or drink on American land as much grog as they please, and claim the protection of Uncle Sam's starry banner. It is as if the law were to say: 'You may not sell poisonous drugs to an American citizen, he may kill himself with them but it is no sin to sell an Englishman a dose of cold poison!' Queer rule that will not work both ways."

TILTON'S OUTLOOK

At 10 o'clock each morning the counsel meet at Judge Morris' office and scan the previous testimony and map out the line of action. They profess to be jubilant over the present aspect of affairs but refuse absolutely to give the slightest hint about the rebuttal. Mr Moulton is not so reticent. He holds in his hand it is said, some great cards that he purposes to play. Things that he held back on the direct examination he purposes now to tell. The rough usage he received from Gen eral Tracy and the attacks made on his wife since his testimony was given, releases him from all secrecy and obligation.

"A lady it is said of high standing in Brook lyn can if she will, make important revela tions on the matter of conspiracy. She re fuses absolutely to testify. Every effort has been made to break down her repugnance and bring her to the stand. An eminent legal gentleman not connected with the trial volun teered to aid Mr Beecher in securing this tes timony but without success. She would have been subpoenaed at once but acting on the gentleman's advice who visited her the idea was abandoned. The story the lady tells is this: She was dining at the Parker House Boston. Two gentlemen came in and took a table near her and shortly after commenced a conversation. She was no eaves dropper, but could not help hearing what was said. Her attention was arrested by hearing the name of Mr Beecher's introduced. After a long conve sation one of the gentlemen looked around and caught the eye of this lady. He immedi ately rose and [illegible] Madam I perceive by your face that you have overheard our con versation. Will you drink a glass of wine with me? No I thank you, I never drink wine with strangers. Will you accept my card? He had none. Turning to his friend he asked for the loan of his card. He wrote his name on the back, and handed it to the lady. That card she has and it contains the name of both of the gentlemen. She added the date. She immediately on her return home told her husband of the incident and repeated the conversation. Whether this tes timony will come out on the trial remains to be seen.—[illegible] Boston Dispatch

The election in Oregon City last Monday re sulted in the choice of F O. McCown as May or, C O T. Williams, Treasurer, and M. C. Athey, Recorder. It was a very quiet election all through, and nobody was much disap pointed. We believe the successful candidates were on the inside last year, and their re-elec tion speaks well for their past administration.

T Pierce of Eola, Polk county, writes to the Record and says "The present indications are that fruit of all kinds will be very abun dant. The grain and gardens generally are in need of rain, and unless it should come rea sonably soon, I think the crops will be more or less affected. Crops however generally look well and should the rain come, which seems to be indicated by the present condition of the atmosphere, and the appearance of the sky as well as by the direction of the wind, we may expect an abundant harvest."

For the new disease which Mr J P Taylor, of Marion county, says is not new but com mon, he prescribes in the Farmer the follow ing cure: "Take nine parts sugar, one part powdered alum, mix well together. Then take a table spoon full of the mixture and take the sheep by the upper jaw with the left hand your thumb through its mouth then pass the spoon well down into the mouth; and as you draw it out scrape it clean of its contents. Hold fast to the jaw until the sheep begins to lick, then you can let it go. This may not need repeating. I seldom repeat more than once. Then give plenty of good food and your sheep will soon be all right."

A TON OF HAY BY MEASURE.—There are 270 cubic feet in a ton of hay put into the mow fresh from the field, and 216 in a ton well settled down. The difference in a mow that had been standing two years, over one that had been standing one year would not be great—as the hay would set tle very little the second year. A correct, practical rule by which to ascertain the number of tons of hay in a mow is to mul tiply the length in yards by the hight in yards, and that by the width in yards, and then divide this product by 15, when the quotient will be the number of tons, says the Maine Farmer

STRANGER, IF YOU MEAN "BIZ," HAVE A little money and are on the work, we're the identical chaps you have traveled the plains across to see. When you say "Home" you strike our strong weakness. Right here, within the sound of the church bells, we have good land for from $25 to $100 per acre. Remember this is within 3 or 4 miles of the Metropolis of Oregon, where people wear store clothes observe the Sabbath, ride on steamboats and railroads have spelling schools, with a soil and climate not excelled for vegetables fruits cereals hops, and "inguns" with a cash mar ket, and no fear of drought, curculio, grasshoppers or crickets, no "Spanish grants" to rob you, where we have telegraphic communication with Europe, Asia Africa and Plymouth Church where ministers don't have to take summer vacations for we've got a Brooklyn of our own, and where a Real Estate Agent is given a wide berth. Yes if this suits you and you want to raise fruits, and vegetables, and chickens and make butter and WORK we can fill the bill. SOME MATTERS THAT SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN OMITTED

The leading editorial article in the Bulletin of yesterday starts out with some general statements about the progressive policy and purposes of the Republican party, which are partly true and partly not true, but soon passes from that subject to the one which formed the central idea in the conception of the article and the inspiration of every sentence in it, to-wit, the immense power of our much-married and somewhat unmarried Senator, and his prodigious industry in looking after the interests of Oregon. A catalogue of the achievements of this senatorial miracle is presented to the admiring reader. They march past in a procession which would be as gay as it is gorgeous, were it not that nearly every transparency telling of the measures championed by him, has in small letters at the bottom "failed to get through," "killed in the House," "choked in committee," or something of that import. It is too bad, but, if the truth must be told, the value of the Senator's performances to the people of this State are infinitesimal, unless we take into consideration some matters which the Bulletin strangely overlooks, at any rate, omits to mention. We allude to the appointment of Mr. O. B. Gibson as collector of internal revenue, an appointment which though eminently creditable at the time, for well-known reasons, has been rendered doubly illustrious by recent events; to the appointment of Mr. John A. Carr, familiarly known in this community, as collector of customs at Fort Wrangel; to the removal of ex-Governor Gibbs from the office of U. S. district attorney because he began the prosecution of the bribers and takers of bribes who figured in the interest of the "Senator" and his ring, at the Congressional election of 1873; to the appointment of R. H. Tower, Mr. Holladay's private secretary—Towler, "of Oregon,"—as paymaster in the army; to his attempt to slip through Congress surreptitiously a measure to prevent the trial of his Wrangel appointee for malfeasance in office; to the great credit he reflected upon his State when he was caught in a deliberate falsehood in open Senate concerning the bill to amend the west side railway act. This is not, by any means, a complete list of the acts and doings of the great Senator, which are calculated to shed luster upon his name and the name of the State from which he hails under an alias, but which are omitted from the Bulletin's catalogue. We trust, however, that these specifications will serve to lead the mind of the editor of the ring organ to the general class of achievements in which the Senator has distinguished himself more than any other, (with the exception, perhaps, of those narrated in the history of his amatory prowess;) as it will undoubtedly be a labor of love to the editor, and all others connected with the organ, to lay all the particulars of these really remarkable performances before a delighted public.

The appearance of the article referred to in the Bulletin just at this time leads us to surmise that the illustrious person whose praises are sung must be on board the incoming steamer, that the ring people are posted, and that the article was intended to tickle his stupendous ears on his arrival, and possibly to prepare the way for a grand reception in his honor, and add this tribute that his joy may be perfect. Some may suppose the non-appearance of his name in the list of passengers renders our inference illogical. We beg to remind such persons that the Senator has peculiar habits with respect to his name, as well as with respect to other things, and may be on the steamer under the name of John Larkins or John Doe. Should the case be as we suggest, we trust all people who practice or approve the habits which have made the Senator a noted, if not a celebrated man, will attend the reception and testify their appreciation of that kind of characters, and their love for that sort of associates. There is a gentleman prominently connected with customs, and another connected with the Custom-House building, both close personal and political friends of the Senator, who, we take the liberty to suggest, would be the most proper persons in the world for president and vice-president on the occasion.

Since writing the above we have learned that our inference, so far as concerned the arrival of the uxorious Senator, were not correct. We can wait.

ARE THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO GO INTO THE SHOW BUSINESS?

We learn that a traveling lecturer or showman or something of that sort, of the name of Gaylord, is working up a plan of using the public schools as an instrument in drawing people to his entertainment. They propose, as we have the scheme explained, to get up spelling matches in the public schools, and then to give free tickets to the eight pupils of each school—or perhaps of each department—who spell the others down, to attend the lecture of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord, and then at the end of the lecture to let these champion school children spell at each other for the amusement of the assemblage. By this plan it is expected an excitement can be worked up which will greatly swell the attendance, and consequently the receipts, of the entertainment. It is to be hoped the teachers will at once put their feet upon a scheme so manifestly improper. To permit the schools to be pressed into service by any itinerant showman or lecturer who chances to pass this way, would be a clear departure from their duties, and would injure the schools in more ways than one. From what we have learned of the performances of these people up the valley where they have appeared, we should judge they would need a spelling school accompaniment at the very least to make their entertainments tolerable. But it will be time enough to speak of the merits of their performances when we have witnessed them. We enter our protest in advance, only against their employing the public schools as a side attachment for their show.

THE PER CENT. OF GAIN FROM HOME MANUFACTURES BY THEIR INCREASED NUMBER.

In previous articles this per cent of gain has been applied to the general business activity, to the employment of labor, to real estate, to public confidence, to the balance of trade, and to the encouragement of immigration.

There is a gain to the manufacturer himself. Two wagon shops are better than one, for the one helps the other by drawing more trade and by mutual accommodation. The same is true of foundries, furniture establishments and boot and shoe factories. It is true of merchants and commission houses. Increase the number and you increase the trade, and the mutual accommodation. The same is true of all branches of business, and of banks as well. It is true of wheat raising. When Oregon produced only a few thousand bushels, ships could not be induced to come owing to the difficulty of getting a cargo. Twenty years ago vessels came to bring goods and pick up a partial freight of various articles. Now they come in ballast half round the world, sure of a cargo of wheat or flour. The result is a regular foreign trade and surer profits.

This principle obtains in manufactures. Five or eight factories would run their looms on five or ten classes of goods. One factory is obliged to change often from one fabric to another, and lose in time and skill with every change. If they decline to change, another market will be sought for the goods. For instance, the Oregon City Woolen mill has won the premium at the San Francisco Mechanics' Fair on gray cassimeres. They also have won a foremost reputation for fine blankets. If they run three or six months on one or two classes of goods they can turn out a larger and better product than to set up an entirely new class every four weeks.

As it is they turn off on an average 40,000 yards per month. Doubtless they could with the same force, turn out 5,000 yards more per month, if all their wools were assorted, dyes prepared, and other materials collected for these two or three classes of fabrics.

A factory in Waterford, New York, makes shawls only. A factory in Ballardvale, Andover, Mass., has made nothing but flannels for thirty years. The several mills of Lawrence, and Lowell, and Manchester, turn out single classes of fabrics. One factory alone in those cities would be like one wheel to a coach. It is the combined products of a dozen mills, that loads the railroad trains, gives activity to business, and meets the demands of the varying markets.

Messrs. Fishel & Roberts, clothing manufacturers of Portland, employ many workmen and sewing machines. Yet they have to go abroad for most of the cloth to make up. It is a great success to a manufacturer to hit the fashion or special taste of the public, but it takes more than one factory to do it, and keep up with the fashion.

The same is true of "iron fronts," about which the Bulletin inquires. If only one or two foundries are in operation upon a few patterns, or if they have no competitors, the builder may gain something by going to foundries in another city to suit his taste with another style, or to get lower bids from those who will do work for cost or less than cost for a while as a mode of advertising themselves and extending their own markets. This happens in the furniture business. Oregon has the lumber, one or two manufactories, but buyers go to San Francisco and get bids for the same goods at lower rates by the rivalry between the two cities. Increase the manufactories in this city and the money will be paid to them, and be retained at home, and a larger number of buyers will be attracted to this center. A furniture buyer from Portland was in Boston a few years ago. He went from one establishment to another, and got by that means better bargains from them all, though his principal transactions were with one firm.

A story is told of the old Hudson Bay store at Vancouver that well illustrates the value of a number of houses in the same business. An immigrant, needing some clothing, had to make the long trip from the Wallamet valley to Vancouver to get a supply. He entered the only dry good store of the company. The lattice barricade on the counter, having only a sliding door, protected the goods from the Indians and other pilferers. The clerk stood writing at the desk. The customer stood outside waiting. Tired of this, he called the clerk. No answer. He called again. No answer. He called with sharper voice. The clerk says, "What do you want?" "Cloth." The clerk goes to the shelf, pulls down a piece, thrusts it through the hole in the lattice and returns to his desk. The immigrant examines the cloth, shoves it back and asks to look at another piece. "Take that or nothing," growls the clerk, and continues his writing. Mr. Immigrant stands a while, viewing the situation, and finally exclaims, with nasal twang, "I've got an uncle coming out here soon, and he'll straighten ye."

"Who is your uncle?" growls the clerk.

"Uncle Sam!" thunders Mr. Immigrant, and marches out.

"Uncle Sam" has been out a number of years and has straightened merchants and clerks, so that all are very obliging to keep all manner of goods and to wait upon immigrants very courteously.

The story has its application in all branches of business. Within the limits which the laws of demand and supply establish by their own force, competition is better, in the long run, for the competitors themselves than monopoly, with the stagnation that monopoly tends to produce.

With respect to the Goodnough iron front, concerning which the Bulletin interrogates us, we can only reply upon the Bulletin's own showing of the costs of labor, &c., the work could be done here as cheaply as in San Francisco, or even more cheaply, if the price of the pig iron is the same. But there are various stories as to the actual difference between the cost of getting the work from San Francisco and the bids by our foundries. The Bulletin sets it down in round numbers at $1,000, while statements apparently quite as reliable, and traceable to the same source, put it as low as $350. There are some facts connected with the transaction, which the Bulletin appears not to have been informed of, and which are sufficient to account for a difference of nearly $1,000. The estimates of the architects, upon which the Portland founders made out their bids, called for about 33,000 pounds of iron, but the actual amount furnished by the San Francisco founders, we are informed, was only 25,000 pounds—a difference of about 33 per cent. in respect of amount. The bids were for the work in the building. It is not stated that the putting into the building was embraced in the San Francisco contract. The bids here were taken long enough before the work was contracted for below for the bids of our foundrymen to be used to make the San Francisco competitors come down to figures lower than the actual cost of the job; in order to extend their business as is frequently done. We do not say that the Portland bids were so used, but the circumstances suggest that possibility. The case presents a mystery which we will ask the Bulletin to help us solve. Mr. G. got special favors in freights. Possibly our foundries put in the choice Oswego iron for iron fronts, and Mr. G. wanted only the cheaper and coarser article which the San Francisco foundries use. Whatever may be the solution of this problem, it is certain that a brisk competition among iron foundries will equalize prices for the same quality of goods and will increase the business where numerous establishments are in operation.

Again, all manufactories need a large, well furnished machine shop, but one factory cannot support such a shop. Several factories would keep one busy, and they would save much in repairs and renewal of parts of their machinery. A single break in a lumber mill often stops the work and turns all hands off for weeks. The same thing is liable to occur in a factory. It is of vast importance to have ample and ready means to repair or to restore broken parts of such machinery. This can be done when three or four factories are in the same city.

Another gain is in the employment of labor. One manufactory cannot draw many skilled workmen to itself. Frequently, when most needed, workmen leave, and they cannot be replaced. But a number of factories will attract operatives, who will be ready on call. On the other hand, laborers like to change employers which they can do without leaving the country if several mills are running.

Such division of labor brings greater results in these as it does in all enterprises. Once our hardware stores kept boots and shoes and other dry goods. It is better for them and for the public that they keep only hardware. It is better for one mill to turn out one or two classes of fabrics and to multiply mills for the supply of more varieties and greater quantities. In this way ships will be attracted hither for our fabrics as they are for our wheat and other cereals. Business will thus be put upon a solid basis, and thousands of the now unemployed will abide with us, and take active part in our industrial growth.

If Professor Schirmer's official report on the Comstock bonanza does not open your eyes, they will never be opened till that bugle sounds. Think of a vat containing 3,000 tons of nitro-muriatic acid, with 1,000 tons of gold and silver bullion held in solution in it! But there will be many a faucet inserted into that cask, and many a straw reaching down through bung-holes and spigots after the precious liquid.

We confess to a feeling that our McMinnville correspondent must be a good deal out of the way in supposing the country merchants mark their goods up to the point of fifty per cent. profit. Fifty is a good many.

The telegraphic statement that the shipment of specie from New York yesterday amounted to $10,000,000, must have been an error in transmission. The amount intended was, probably, $1,000,000.

THE EMIGRANTS.—Concerning the emigrants now reaching California by hundreds every day and many of whom will find their way to Oregon, the Call says: "They are principally American born, or if from Europe they have had some years of residence in the United States; they are mostly in family groups, father, mother, sons and daughters; they are generally from the States of the Northwest, some few from New England; they are mostly farmers and mechanics, and generally from the country and small villages; they are all accustomed to labor, and come to this country expecting to find employment upon the farms or in some mechanical industry; the majority of them are well provided with means for their maintenance for at least some months, and many of them have money to buy stock and lands; there are few old folks among them, and but few young children, and they are arriving in almost universal good health; most of them have friends in California with whom they have corresponded, or they have been here before as pioneers to investigate the country on behalf of themselves and their friends. Their general intention is to acquire land. This emigration, as we have said before, should be aided with reliable information upon all questions touching their wants. In the great center from which they are to be distributed they should have facilities for shelter, food and temporary maintenance afforded them at cost. It will be well for the State and well for the emigrant if there is a general disposition manifested to give them encouragement and help them with advice, and an opportunity to tide over the first year of their residence. It would be well for the great land-owner and well for the emigrant if this is made the occasion of dividing the great estates and throwing them upon the market in small farms and upon favorable terms. Let this emigration be encouraged, aided and provided for, and it will prove a blessing to our coast, and the coast will, in time, to these and those who follow them, give thousands of happy homes.

A MISTAKE.—By the steamer Gov. Grover, which reached here yesterday from up the river, there arrived a young couple. This couple live at or near Fairfield, in Marion county, and they came on a matrimonial tour. As soon as the boat touched the wharf the would-be groom, taking along a "mutual friend", to act as witness, started for the court house to obtain a license. The parents of the young lady had made strong objections to the match, and the couple, thinking to out-general them, took the boat for Portland, determined that two loving hearts should be made to palpitate as one before returning. But alas! for human hopes. On reaching the court house, the young man was informed by the clerk that he could not issue a marriage license to residents of another county; that to obtain the proper document it would be necessary to go to Salem. The disgust and disappointment of the prospective groom can readily be imagined when he learned of the situation.

MINISTERIAL VISIT.—From the Oregon Churchman we learn that Bishop Morris has recently paid a ministerial visit to the Dalles; last Sunday five persons were confirmed by him. During a series of services held by the Rev. Dr. Nevius in the preceding week three adults and two children were baptised. Five hundred dollars given by a gentleman of Portland for church building, will be applied at this place. The citizens have subscribed an equal amount, the city has given land for general church purposes, and the work will be begun immediately. This will be one of the Eastern Oregon missions and will be under the general supervision of Rev. Dr. Nevius, who will be assisted, at the more distant stations, in Grand Ronde by the Rev. Mr. Kaye, who will arrive in Oregon some time in May.

OREGON PRESBYTERY.—The Presbytery for Oregon and Washington Territory met last evening at the First Presbyterian church, at 7:30 o'clock. Exercises began with a sermon by Rev. J. R. Thompson. Rev. W. R. Stewart, of Salem, was elected moderator for the ensuing year. Rev. J. Rea, of Port Townsend, was elected clerk. Many of the members being weary with their journeyings during the day, the Presbytery took an early adjournment, to meet this morning at 9 o'clock. There will be public services this (Thursday) evening at the church by Rev. W. R. Stewart. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONRY.—On Tuesday evening the following named officers of Ainsworth Chapter of Rose Croix, No. 1, were installed by M. J. McCraken, Sovereign Grand Inspector General for Oregon, Idaho and Washington Territories: L. W. Pratt, M. W. M.; J. N. Dolph, S. W.; A. Roberts, J. W.; W. W. Upton, O.; Theo. Wygant, A.; H. C. Morrice, S.; S. G. Reed, T.; John R. Foster, M. C.; L. C. Henrichsen, S. E.; H. L. Hoyt, J. E.; D. McKenzie, S. B.; J. F. Steffen, C. of T.; Seth L. Pope, Tyler.

FROM WALLA WALLA.—Mr. Louis Lindsey, who is just down from Walla Walla, reports that the Agricultural Society of that county is about to reorganize under new officers. Work on the new fair grounds which have been selected in a more convenient locality, has commenced. The fair grounds will have an area of 80 acres. All the necessary buildings are to be constructed soon.

TREASURE.—During the month of April, the following shipments of treasure were made by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express to California:

Currency and Gold Notes	$28,536 10
Gold coin	82,113 45
Bullion	6,736 25

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. F. M. Phelps is announced to appear in this city on the 14th inst., at Oro Fino Theater. The troupe comprises Mrs. Fanny Morgan Phelps and Miss Lizzie Morgan, and Messrs. Goning, Barrows, Hays and others. The troupe is accompanied by McDonald's band of trained Indians, who have been secured for a series of entertainments to be given in this city by Mrs. Phelps.

This evening Mrs. Robert Fulford, the pleasing and popular actress, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at New Market Theater. This will be the last appearance of the lady before a Portland audience, as Mr. and Mrs. Fulford propose soon to take their departure for San Francisco, to reside permanently. Mrs. Fulford, during her long sojourn among us, has won a large place in the public heart, and will not soon be forgotten. By her constant efforts to please as an actress, and superior social qualities, she has won the favor of all, and formed many pleasant and enduring friendships. Besides the merits of the beneficiary, a superior bill will be presented this evening, "New Magdalen," in which Mrs. Fulford will assume the role of "Mercy Merrick," efficiently supported by a strong cast. At the conclusion of the play, one or more musical selections will be rendered by the ever popular Amphion Club, who have kindly volunteered for the occasion. Box office will be open this morning at 10 o'clock, at the theater. We shall be gratified to record a grand success.

THE RECEPTION.

A grand reception was held last evening at the new engine house of Multnomah Company No. 2, by the members of that organization, and a large number of invited guests. Invitations were extended to the mayor, members of the common council, other city officials, brother firemen, friends and members of the press. At 8:30 the guests began to pour in, to the number of a hundred or more. About 9 o'clock the guests were called to order by the president, Mr. Joseph Bachman, who made the following remarks:

Gentlemen: On behalf of Multnomah Fire Engine Co. No. 2, allow me to welcome you to our hospitality, and at the same time to express our appreciation of the honor conferred on us by your attendance as guests this evening. To the representatives of the city of Portland, especially, are our thanks due and most heartily expressed for the securing to us of the elegant quarters now occupied by us, and though we have always in the past striven to maintain a position as firemen second to none, still we promise in the future to direct our efforts with an eye single to the efficiency of our company, as such, as well as to the honor and efficiency of the Portland fire department. I will not detain you longer with any remarks, as Mr. Trevett has the management of that part of the programme, who will introduce to your attention those far more able to entertain and please you than I am.

After the above address a splendid collation, consisting of champagne, cake and ice cream, was spread out in abundance before the guests, of which all partook liberally. Lunch over, Mr. Brooks Trevett arose and said:

Gentlemen, our invited guests: Before offering the first regular toast of the evening, I beg to add a few words of welcome to those of you who have heard from our president. We are heartily glad to see you here; we are glad, heartily glad, to be here ourselves. To this we have looked forward through years of patient and sometimes weary waiting; from the time when we were indebted to the kindness of our friends for a room in which to hold our meetings, until the present, we have kept steadily in view some such occasion as this, when we could receive our friends in a house suited to ourselves, to the department of which we are members, and, to the city we are proud to call our home. Our history has been told by an abler tongue than mine, and in the city papers yesterday of our record, we are proud—I think I may say justly so; and, if I do not much mistake the spirit of this company, the future is mirrored in the past, and the years to come will prove us, as those gone by, prompt to respond to every call of duty. Again, gentlemen, I bid you welcome. The toast I am about to offer contains a pledge to which it is fitting that every member of this company should assent, and of that assent I have no doubt.

TOASTS.

The following regular toasts were proposed by Mr. Trevett, in behalf of the company:

First—"The Honorable the Common Council of the city of Portland: We pledge ourselves to such a performance of our duty as shall convince them that their liberal expenditure for our accommodation has not been misplaced."

Responded to in a fitting manner by Hon. Henry Failing.

Second—"The Honorable ex-Mayors of the city of Portland, founders, both by precept and example of that wise and open-handed policy toward the Fire Department, so well carried out by their successors."

Responded to by Dr. J. A. Chapman.

Third—"The Board of Police Commissioners of the city of Portland: Though an institution of recent establishment, yet its efficiency has been ensured by the appointment of all its members from the Fire Department."

Responded to by Police Commissioner, Mr. Shattuck, Norris.

Fourth—"The Hon. H. W. Corbett: A friend in need is a friend indeed, an allusion to which the oldest members of the Company, and the gentleman himself, will doubtless understand."

Fifth—"The Portland Fire Department: An association in which we trust to see no strife other than to be first in the performance of duty."

Chief Engineer A. B. Hallock responded in his usual happy manner.

Sixth—"The exempt members of our company. Though their names are no longer upon our active roll, they are indelibly inscribed upon the tablets of our memory."

Responded to in eloquent words by M. W. Fechheimer, Esq.

Seventh—"The Press, by whose power our deeds are made immortal."

This toast was responded to by Mr. James O'Meara.

At the conclusion of the toasts and responses, which were, without exception, very appropriate, and were received with the warmest demonstrations of approval, some time was spent in social converse and in pledges of friendship and fraternal relations over many a bumper of sparkling champagne. At a late hour the guests retired after some time passed in the most agreeable and pleasant manner. The members of Multnomah Co. No. 2, dispensed with a liberal hand their most princely hospitalities, and they, together with all the guests, will never have reason to forget the memorable occasion.

BRIEF NOTES.

The Father Mathew society will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

The steamer John L. Stephens arrived shortly after 9 o'clock last evening.

During the month of April it cost $356 98 to run the county poor farm.

Remember the farewell benefit of Mrs. R. Fulford this evening at New Market Theater.

We understand that the Oregon Churchman is hereafter to be issued weekly instead of semi-monthly.

The cabin frame of the new steamer belonging to the W. R. T. Co., on the ways above the sawmill, is up.

Mr. Paul Schultze was elected secretary of the German Aid Association on Tuesday evening, vice Peter Wagner, resigned.

The steamer Ohio will leave this port for Eugene City this morning, and is announced to make the trip again next week.

On Tuesday night, the river at Oregon City rose about three inches. The Clackamas river is reported to be rising rapidly, caused by the present warm rains in the mountains.

Will. Dillon, who recently returned from California, met with an accident near Santa Barbara which caused him to employ the use of a cane. He is better satisfied with Oregon, and consequently intends to stay.

This evening Rev. L. Schram will lecture at Good Templars' Hall. Subject: "The Indian Policy of the United States." This will be the last of the course of lectures under the auspices of the Catholic Social Union.

The ferry-boat, brought down from Salem by Mr. Knott, and employed to take the place temporarily of the railroad ferry, while that craft is taken to Astoria and placed on the ways, for repairs, was making trips yesterday from the foot of F street, to the east-side.

SOMETHING NEW.

The new style of promenade photographs. These beautiful pictures are now made at Bosco & Megler's new rooms, Nos. 127 and 129, First street. Call and examine them.

Mr. Walter Norton, late of Fleidner Bros., will be pleased to see his numerous friends at his new barber shop, Alder street, near Front. Everything in first class order and prompt attention.

Spelling matches are all the rage now and there is no telling what may follow to occupy the attention of society. What attracts most attention in the vicinity of Front and Washington streets is the establishment of BECK & WALDMAN. The immense stock of spring and summer Clothing, and the marked changes in the matter of charges at this house is sufficient to draw large crowds to their store. Youths' clothing continues a specialty, and fond parents make a great mistake if they fail to examine the stock at Beck & Waldman's.

KOHN, opposite the National Bank, is still busy disposing of those new and exceedingly attractive styles of summer suits. His recent visit to San Francisco gave him an opportunity to make the necessary arrangements for the shipment to his house of the latest and most fashionable suits as they should appear. Everybody who has had any acquaintance with Kohn needs no urging. You need a suit, or some furnishing goods now, and Kohn offers you a splendid chance to buy.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.

WEDNESDAY, May 5, 1875.

U. S. vs T. J. Mattock et al; demurrer to complaint sustained.

U. S. vs Mark Winslow; demurrer to indictment and motion to set aside same continued for argument.

In re St. Helens Mill Co.; application of J. B. Montgomery to have claim liquidated; ordered that said Montgomery be directed and required to bring an action at law against the assignee of said estate to ascertain and settle his claim within one month.

U. S. vs Lee Wi; for disposing of liquor to an Indian; cause tried; verdict guilty.

COUNTY COURT—WOODWARD, J.—HOLMAN AND HANSON COMMISSIONERS.

The following order was made by the court and the same ordered spread on the journal: Ordered, that in any criminal action in any justice's court in this county, or in any court having the jurisdiction of a justice's court, in criminal actions therein, unless the justice holding said court shall require the private prosecutor to give the undertaking or security for costs prescribed by statute in such cases, or the district attorney of the fourth judicial district of Oregon shall certify, by endorsement upon the complaint offered to be filed his opinion that the complaint is well founded, the fees of the officers of such court will not be allowed by this court in such cases.

It is further ordered that the clerk of this court serve the foregoing order upon each justice of the peace in this county, by depositing in the postoffice at Portland, a certified copy of said order, under the seal of this court, directed to each of such justices and prepaying the postage on the same.

In the matter of the report of the viewers appointed to assess damages occasioned by laying out the county road running through the land of Wm. Sherlock, Guild and others, at this time come the petitioners for the location of said road, by their attorneys, Dolph, Bronaugh, Dolph & Simon, and file motion to set aside report of viewers; ordered that Wednesday, 12th inst., be set for hearing said motion.

Ordered that the superintendent of the county farm be ordered to make a requisition on the county court for supplies to be furnished at the county farm for the next preceding month, the said requisition to be presented to the court on or before the first day of each month.

Adjourned until Saturday, 10 o'clock, A. M.

NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE.

The Pacific Branch Permanently Established in San Francisco.

Since the first visit of Dr. H. R. Allen (the founder of the National Surgical Institute) to this coast, nearly two years ago, it has been the intention of the Institute to establish a Branch in San Francisco. The subsequent visits of other Surgeons of the Institute, and the unparalleled success which attended them, has served only to strengthen the project. After the expenditure of much time, labor and money in preparing instruments, machinery, etc., the Pacific Branch is at last permanently established, and will be open for the reception of patients by the middle of this month. For the present, and until further notice, the business will be continued at their old building, No. 319 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, San Francisco. The machinery for the swedish movement and vacuum cure, Galvanic and Electrical apparatus, and for giving the Electro Thermal, Turkish, Vapor and other baths, has all been received from the East, (where it was manufactured in the Institute machine shops), and is rapidly being placed in position. Dr. J. M. Hinkle, one of the oldest and most successful surgeons of the Institute, associated with Dr. Thos. Mayon and a corps of skilled assistants, are already in San Francisco, and will remain there in charge of the Branch Institute; consequently no further question need be asked or fears apprehended concerning the permanency and proficiency of the Pacific Branch.

Dr. Allen will visit the Institute in San Francisco on the 20th of this month, and remain until the 15th of May following, during which time he will be pleased to see all the old patients now under treatment, and as many new ones as possible. The Institute is especially prepared to treat all Deformities and Surgical cases, Chronic Diseases, etc.

Address National Surgical Institute, 319 Bush street, San Francisco, for circular and particulars.

COMMON COUNCIL.

[REGULAR MEETING, MAY 5, 1875.]

The Common Council of the city of Portland met pursuant to ordinance, His Honor, Mayor H. Failing, presiding.

Present—W. B. Caldwell, clerk; J. H. Lappeus, chief of police, Councilman Besser, Catlin, Corbett, Hoyt, Lyon, Story and Thompson.

Absent—Councilman Moreland.

The journal of the last meeting was read and approved.

POLICE JUDGE.

A message from the Mayor appointing Chas. A. Ball police judge to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of O. N. Denny, was read and laid on the table.

INVITATION.

The clerk read an invitation to the Mayor and Common Council to attend the reception at the engine house of Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2. The invitation was accepted.

PETITIONS, ETC.

The petition of C. M. Carter and others was read and referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The remonstrance of F. Bickel and others, against the proposed improvement of Ash street, was read and referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The petition of Sorensen & Taylor, for the use of Park block as a wood-yard during high water, was read and referred to the committee on streets and public property.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The committee on fire and water reported that the contract for the construction of two hose carts had been let to S. G. Dunting, he being the lowest bidder. The report was placed on file.

Correspondence between Arthur Pahie and the committee on fire and water, in reference to the wall on the north side of the house of Engine Co. No. 2 was read, and referred to the judiciary committee, with instructions to report at next meeting.

On motion the Council adjourned until Friday evening at 7½ o'clock.

VANCOUVER NOTES.

Our regular correspondent sends the following:

Owing to the general dullness prevailing throughout the country, items are exceedingly scarce. But May day came, as usual, notwithstanding the dullness, and slightly relieved the monotony prevailing at this place. A good portion of the Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist Sunday schools joined in an excursion and picnic, leaving on the steamer Vancouver at 8 A. M. for Sauvie's Island. The indications of a rainy day, kept many at home, but about one hundred and fifty joined in the excursion. The prospects of rain becoming more manifest, induced the excursionists to proceed to St. Johns, where shelter might be had should an "Oregon mist" prevail. Sure enough, the mist came just as we had sat down to lunch. The extensive mills at St. Johns, however, furnished ample shelter from the storm, and the generous kindness of the proprietor in showing us the machinery, furnishing us room, etc., elicited the grateful thanks of the party. As we came to the mill after lunch we were surprised to meet several of our friends, whom we had left at the wharf in Vancouver, refusing to go on account of the indications of rain. But we were still more surprised to learn that Mr. Charlie Troup and another young man had procured a row-boat, and rowed all the way from Vancouver to St. Johns, a distance of about 12 miles. The trip was made in less than four hours. At 3:30 P. M. the Vancouver put in a reappearance, and all were soon safely conveyed home.

We are informed that Mr. S. P. McDonald is making arrangements to start a daily express between Vancouver and Portland, connecting with Wells, Fargo & Co. at the latter city. Such an institution would certainly be a great convenience to the public, and McDonald is just the man to succeed with it. We hope sufficient encouragement may be given to the enterprise to make it a permanent one.

At the meeting of the common council on last Monday evening, a sufficient sum of money was appropriated to put the public square in suitable condition for picnics, etc. The square will be immediately cleared up for this purpose, so that parties who desire can have the benefit of these beautiful grounds without cost.

A road running north has been surveyed, nearly on an air line, passing through Brush prairie and Battle Ground to Chelatchie prairie. This road will make the distance from these settlements to the Columbia river, at Fisher's Landing, three miles less than at Vancouver.

The Grangers, alive to their interests, are making important improvements at Fisher's Landing, about seven miles above Vancouver. A small wharf has already been built, and a warehouse and shed for storing hay are well under way.

M. ROSENBLATT, Clothier, has just returned from San Francisco with a large Stock of Spring Goods—particularly Boys' and Youths' Clothing, at lower rates than ever. Call and see before purchasing. The store is No. 79 Front street.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 6, 1875.

HEARING HIM "ELOCUTE."

A "GOAK" BY ARTEMUS WARD.

In the spring of 1859 I accepted a proffered editorial position on the Cleveland National Democrat, and renewed my acquaintance with Artemus.

On the first evening of my arrival he volunteered to show me around—a very desirable achievement, as I was to fill the position of city editor.

He "showed me around" so successfully that about two o'clock in the morning I began to feel almost as much at home in Cleveland as if I had lived there all my days, to say nothing of my nights. Artemus invited me to share his bed with him for the remainder of the night, and I accepted.

Adjoining his room lodged a young professor of elocution, who was endeavoring to establish a school in Cleveland. He was just starting out in business, and was naturally anxious to propitiate the press.

"Let's get the professor up," said Artemus, "and have him orate for us."

I remonstrated with him, reminded him of the lateness of the hour, that I was not acquainted with the professor, and all that, but to no purpose.

"He is a public man," said Ward, "and public men are glad to meet representatives of the press, as restaurants are supposed to get up warm meals at all hours."

He gave a thundering rap on the door, as he shouted, "Professor-r-r!"

"Who's there? What yee want?" cried a muffled voice, evidently beneath the bed clothes, for it was a bitter cold night in February.

"It is I; Brown of The Plain Dealer," said Artemus, and, nudging me gently in the ribs, he whispered, "That'll fetch him. The power of the press is invincible. It is the Archimedian lever which—"

His remarks were interrupted by the opening of the door, and I could just discover the dim outline of a shirted form shivering in the doorway.

"Excuse me for disturbing you, Professor," said Artemus in his blandest manner, "but I am anxious to introduce you to my friend here, the new 'local' of The Democrat. He has heard much of you, and declares positively he can't go to bed until he hears you elocute."

"Hears me what?" answered the Professor between his chattering teeth.

"Hears you elocute—recite—declaim. Understand? Specimen of your elocution."

In vain did the Professor plead the lateness of the hour, and his fire had gone out. Artemus would accept no excuse.

"Permit me at least," urged the Professor, "to put on some clothes and to light the gas."

"Not at all necessary. Eloquence, my dear boy, is not dependent on gas. Here, (straightening up a chair he had just tumbled over), "get right up on this chair, and give us, 'The boy stood on the burning deck'"—adding in a side whisper in my ear, "the burning deck will warm him up."

Gently, yet firmly, did Artemus boost the reluctant Professor upon the chair, protesting that no apologies were necessary for his appearance, and assuring him that "clothes didn't make the man," although the shivering disciple of Demosthenes and Cicero probably thought that clothes would make a man more comfortable on such a night as that.

He gave us "Cassabianca," with a good many quavers of the voice, as he stood shaking in a single short, white garment; and then followed, "On Linden when the sun was low," "Sword of Bunker Hill," etc., "by particular request of a friend," as Artemus Ward said, although I was too nearly suffocated with suppressed laughter to make even a last dying request had it been necessary. It was too ludicrous to depict—the Professor, an indistinct white object, standing on the chair, "elocuting," as Ward had it, and we sitting on the floor holding ourselves, while A. W. would faintly whisper between his pangs of mirth, "Just hear him."

It wasn't in Ward's heart to have his fun at the expense of another without recompense; so next day I remembered, he published a lengthy and entirely serious account of our visit to the Professor's room, spoke of his wonderful powers as an elocutionist, and expressed the satisfaction and delight with which we listened to his "unequalled recitations."

The Professor was overjoyed, and probably is ignorant to this day that Artemus was "playing it on him."

CHRISTIAN ADVICE TO AN AGED PATRIOT.—Last week the Stock Exchange was placed on the verge of a panic by the failure of Mr. Daniel Drew, "the veteran operator," to make good his "puts" and "calls." It turned out the next day, however, that the reason was, that he was sick at home, and had neglected to give instructions to his brokers about the matter. Mr. Drew is eighty-two years old, and at that age it is not surprising that a man should be sick and should forget his "puts" and be unmindful of his "calls;" but when his indisposition and his forgetfulness threaten the public with a financial crisis, it is not unfair to ask whether it would not be well for a person so well advanced in life to forsake the Stock Exchange altogether. There must surely be some pursuit which a gentleman of Mr. Drew's well-known piety could find distraction in his last years besides betting on stocks. He may at any moment, in the natural order, have not only "to lay down on his stock privileges," as they say on the street, but to "lay down on" everything in the world; and we beg most earnestly to suggest that he will, in the interest of society, prepare for that event by a complete retirement from business. We make this appeal to him as to an aged patriot; his pastor might re-enforce it by considerations of a higher order, addressed to him in the character of an old sinner.—N. Y. Nation.

MAN'S OWNERSHIP OF HIMSELF.—It is an error to suppose that a man belongs to himself. No man does. He belongs to his wife, or his children, or his relations, or his creditors, or to society in some form or other. It is for their especial good and behalf that he lives and works, and they kindly allow him to retain a certain percentage of his gains to administer to his own pleasures or wants. He has his body and that is all, and even for that he is answerable to society. In short, society is the master and man is the servant; and it is entirely according as society turns out a good or bad master, whether he turns out a good or bad servant.—George Augustus Sala.

TO PROCURE DURABLE TIMBER.—The observation and study of fourteen years have brought a distinguished Spanish savant to the conviction that the sap in growing vegetation not only has the same ebb and flow as the tides of the sea, but that these sap-tides correspond exactly in point of time with the ocean tides. The practical value of this curious discovery is that trees felled at low tide make far more durable timber than those cut at flood; and the ebb is also the time for pruning to the best advantage.

ROUGH ON THE CAPTAIN.—The Captain of one of the ferry boats recently found a negro aboard who hadn't the nickel to pay his fare, and he shouted to him: "Didn't I tell you before we started that you couldn't cross if you hadn't any money?" "I guess it was you," replied the darkey; "but dere was so many men round the dock spittin' frew deir front teeth and a-hollerin' at deck-hands dat I couldn't make out whether you belonged on de boat or not."—Detroit Free Press.

Latest Liverpool wheat quotations by telegraph are 8s 11d per cental ex warehouse, average California, a decline of 4d.

In monetary matters, we are informed by those in a position to know, the demand for loans on real estate is quite dull, especially on outside lands and farms in the interior, but as many such applications are not considered the most desirable chances for investment, their frequency is probably not the most correct standard from which to form an opinion as to the aggregate volume of transactions in the money market. As we have before remarked, when such applications for financial favors develop what is considered a safe opportunity for investment, the available funds in the market are found to be ample, and in some instances such chances are considered desirable. The bulk of real loans in this market, however, are made on city property, though the aggregate made on outside lands and personal security is quite large.

There are no new developments in financial circles to-day, a fair degree of ease being the rule and all prime commercial paper being readily discounted at current rates.

Trade matters are quite brisk in imported goods and prices generally steady. Coffees and sugars have both advanced,—the former ½ and the latter ¼ cent ⅌ lb, with the indication that the end is not yet. Stocks here and on the way are, however, of very considerable magnitude, and dealers in this market will be able to supply the trade at a very small advance on San Francisco prices, at least for a while. In other groceries there is a firm feeling and an active trade, but no important changes.

In the produce market no change is noted, the trade being dull and but few offerings of staple products. Wheat is believed to be getting pretty scarce, and millers and others who have special wants to supply, are inquiring for choice lots at $1 50 per cental, a figure at which exporters could hardly save themselves by shipping under present Liverpool quotations, which are 8s 10d for average California wheat ex warehouse, making Oregon at most not more than 9s 3d. The recent arrivals in the United Kingdom from this coast have been very heavy, and the recent depression in the markets of that country is probably solely attributable to that fact, as latest reports of crop prospects especially in the United States, could not have had that effect. The probability now is that the greater portion of the surplus wheat in our State which has not yet left first hands, will be carried over till next season in hope of higher rates than have prevailed this season.

Oats are now in good demand at 60 cents per bushel, including sacks, and receipts are coming forward slowly. Shipments since the 1st of January have been 68,298 sacks, equal to about 172,000 bushels, all of which, except 580 sacks, have gone to the San Francisco market. It is quite certain that shipments must decline from now until after harvest.

Miscellaneous.

The committee of the Produce Exchange of San Francisco, appointed to ascertain the amount of grain and flour on hand in California on the 15th ult., have made their report, and give the stock of flour on that date as 58,092 bbls; wheat, 1,049,657 centals; barley, 396,509 centals; and oats, 38,923 centals.

The San Francisco Rural Press says: "Though the present view of our wheat crop is somewhat discouraging, it is without doubt more promising than that of the Atlantic States. An investigation of the condition of winter wheat by the statistical division of the Department of Agriculture presents the crop as a whole much below the status of last year in April."

"In California," says the Press, "the frost has been more damaging to wheat than was at first supposed, and in some localities where the crops were believed to be beyond the liability to suffer from drought, dry winds have within a few days been very destructive to the wheat. To what extent the crop has been damaged cannot at present be ascertained."

The recent rains have been of much help to the growing crops, and the fall sown wheat, it is now thought, would yield a full crop even should the weather henceforward be dry.

The San Francisco dealers advanced the price of coffee ½ a cent per per lb, and of sugar ¼ cent on Tuesday, and our market is in sympathy.

A typographical error in our table on wheat exports yesterday, made the total for the current harvest year since January 1st: flour shipments, 119,988½ barrels, instead of 109,988½, making the total shipments for the year so far equal to 5,137,887 bushels of wheat, or 94,135 tons.

Shipping Intelligence.

The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg is receiving flour and other produce at Flanders' wharf and will finish cargo to-morrow, except a small lot of salmon from some point down the river.

The bark Menshikoff is due from San Francisco, and the Mattie Macleay from Honolulu.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Gout, Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF

Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons,

R

Has been widely used during the last twenty-five years, in the treatment of these distressing diseases, and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. The shakes, or chills, once broken by it, do not return, until the disease is contracted again. This has made it an accepted remedy, and trusted specific, for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayers' Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system, and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease, so that no Liver Complaints, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dysentery or Debility follow the cure. Indeed, where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison, it removes the cause of them and they disappear. Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria it will expel the poison and protect them from attack. Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities are thus enabled to defy the disease. The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm, has no speedier remedy.

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL

A Flutter in Court.

NEW YORK, May 6.—A great flutter of excite[illegible] followed the calling of Henry C. Bowen as [illegible] ness in the Beecher-Tilton trial yesterday. [illegible] Bowen himself showed traces of conside[illegible] mental agitation. The first question, relating [illegible] impeachment of Beecher, was whether defe[illegible] ever did speak to him (Bowen), to influence h[illegible] discharging Tilton from his employment. A[illegible] short, sharp, single, the answer was [illegible] "Never," and some sensation followed. Defen[illegible] lawyers were all agog. Mrs. Beecher put her [illegible] on and took notes. Tilton was pale with an[illegible] Moulton perspired profusely, and all hands [illegible] considerably waked up.

After witness had begun to relate his inte[illegible] with Beecher the night the famous note was [illegible] ered, calling on him to abandon his pulpit, [illegible] ions began to grow confused, and for a mome[illegible] thought was uppermost in many minds that [illegible] would turn out a witness for Beecher. [illegible] after, witness contradicted Beecher's testim[illegible] several points. He was asked if he received [illegible] ter from Beecher in January, 1871. I think [illegible] the answer that revealed the caution of [illegible] ness; for he then pulled out the lett[illegible] question, which proved to be the original d[illegible] the Tripartite covenant. It was not a harmon[illegible] witness. He had all the papers bearing on th[illegible] neatly folded, and promptly drew forth whic[illegible] one was called for. The defense contended [illegible] the award of $7,000 given to Tilton by Bowe[illegible] extorted by a threat to publish the scandal. [illegible] said that arbitration had nothing to do [illegible] Beecher's affairs. These affairs were men[illegible] neither in words nor in writing.

Pryor and Fullerton have been engaged [illegible] the past two or three days on requests to [illegible] which, it is said, will be [illegible]

NEW YORK, May 6.—The court room in wh[illegible] scandal trial is proceeding was as full this m[illegible] as at any time almost when Tilton, Moul[illegible] Beecher was on the stand. Defendant an[illegible] were in their usual places in the van of the [illegible] outh church party. At a quarter past 11 o'cl[illegible]

Henry C. Bowen

Took the witness chair and his examinatio[illegible] continued by Fullerton. He testified: [illegible] Beecher nearly every Sabbath prior to the 2[illegible] cember, 1870. Tilton and his affairs may h[illegible] the subject of conversation between us. [illegible] 1st of January, 1871, I told Beecher of my in[illegible] to dismiss Tilton from my paper. I called at [illegible] her's house on the evening of that day [illegible] Beecher. At Deacon Freeland's saw Mrs. B[illegible] her husband was not present. I did not [illegible] Beecher's letter of January 2d.

Fullerton read a passage from the letter a[illegible] tioned witness as to the stories to which Bee[illegible] luded.

Witness said Beecher said there were st[illegible] circulation affecting Tilton's moral charac[illegible] told me of them, but I don't remember [illegible] Beecher asked me if I was his friend. I th[illegible] had no unfriendly feeling towards him. I [illegible] say to Beecher that I would stand by him a[illegible] These feelings remained throughout the [illegible] and were not altered when I left.

Fullerton said that was all he had to ask [illegible] ness.

Evarts cross-examined the witness. He [illegible] him a letter and envelope and witness said [illegible] lieve this is the letter and envelope I took [illegible] er. It bears marks of having been ope[illegible] closed. I have no recollection whether [illegible] opened or closed when I gave it to Beech[illegible] letter had been two or three hours in my p[illegible] when I delivered it. I got it from Tilto[illegible] house. No person was present when it w[illegible] There was an appointment at my house wh[illegible] that morning. It was made by Johnson a[illegible] on the Saturday before. I think I told [illegible] would be at home all that day and would [illegible] when they desired. I remember they [illegible] would call Monday morning. They came [illegible] the forenoon, I think, before 11 o'clock, [illegible] have stayed two hours or more. The topi[illegible] versation was almost entirely that for whic[illegible] terview was appointed. Johnson lef[illegible] Tilton, at 12 o'clock, and Tilton a lit[illegible] I wrote a note to Deacon Freeland, bu[illegible] no copy of it. I do not believe [illegible] a copy. I sent this note to Freeland im[illegible]
